Architecture

Frontend container builds the Next.js app whose App Router renders layout and index page; no backend wiring is evidenced.

Page render flow

A viewer receives the server-rendered index: root layout imports styles and metadata and wraps the static Home component.

Test flow

Vitest with jsdom and React plugin renders the Home component, and the page test asserts the heading role and text.

